Vol. XLIX

Winona State College, Winona, Minn. Friday, May 10, 1968

No. 25

Contestants in Winona State's APO-sponsored Ugly Man On Campus Contest are John Phillipson, sponsored by Kappa Pi; Don Presnall, Kappa Theta Chi; Greg Hitchcock, Alpha Xi Delta; Jim Brodie, Delta Zeta; and Louis Bardel, Tau Kappa Epsilon. The contestants are collecting money from the students this week; the contestant with the most money will be awarded an ugly man key. His organization will receive the traveling plaque.

Results of the contest will be announced Friday at the dance in the Smog. Proceeds from the contest will go toward a new organizational checkerboard to be placed in the student union. The UMOC contest is a traditional activity of Alpha Phi Omega and is usually sponsored to raise money for worthwhile causes.

Discussion at Newman views race relations

by Mike Eischen

FRIDAY EVENING at the Newman Center a panel of students discussed and answered questions related to their recent letters in the Winonan. Mr. Adolph Bremer served as moderator.

Discussion centered around racial issues; other students participated along with the panel members. Many felt that prejudice and discrimination resulted from rigidity of attitudes and that prejudice always involves misjudgment.

James Thomas, commenting on the black man's responsibility in society, stated that in our capitalistic system the members of society can be divided into assets and liabilities. The black man, he said, has become a liability. If he does not choose to become an asset the white man will get rid of the liabilities. The solution to the black man's problems, Thomas asserted, is for him to acquire political and economic power and to determine his own destiny and not have someone else determine it for him.

FRANK SIEBENALER stated that in his letters he was not speaking for the Veterans' Club or for any other organization he belongs to. He said the Veterans' Club is not a racist organization, nor is he a racist. He also stated that he respects a person as a person and that he respects people who respect him. In regard to Constitutional rights, Siebenaler stated that these rights involve responsibilities that cannot be ignored.

Opinion was divided on whether riots by Afro-Americans were justified. Some students felt that the Afro-Americans were justified in rioting since they had been exploited and discriminated against by the merchants' stores they burned and looted. Others felt this was not a responsible way for the Afro-Americans to resolve their problems and that riots alienated white people already sympathetic to the black man's cause.

In the course of the discussion about how recent Letters to the Editor in the Winonan have tended to become personal attacks, Mr. Bremer pointed out that comments in a college newspaper are subject to libel.

MARY HILDEBRAND mentioned that this was the first time she had attended a discussion at the Newman Center, and that during the discussion it appeared to her that many of those in attendance had predetermined arguments and did not seem disposed to a viewpoint other than their own.

An unidentified coed from Mankato State said that she didn't see much merit in discussion if it doesn't lead to personal action that will accomplish something related to the discussion.

Some comments in this regard were made by Michael Baglino and James Thomas.

BAGLINO POINTED out that

SDS has a program set up in big city slum areas in the U.S. where students work with the poor whites, who are often the most prejudiced toward the black man. The SDS group is a sister organization of SNCC and strives to educate and work with the poor whites along with supporting

Expert sees trend toward 'Speed'; Cohen recounts history of LSD 25

by Mary Anderson

"What is a bummer?"

Serious destructive effects and complications may result from the use of LSD "because the critical functions of the ego may be wiped out completely," according to Dr. Sidney Cohen, a leading authority on LSD, who spoke in Somsen Auditorium Monday night.

Dr. Cohen, an associate professor of medicine at UCLA, chief of the psychiatry service at Wadsworth V.A. Hospital in Los Angeles, and author of recent books on drugs, traced a brief history of drugs and discussed complications and effects of LSD.

DR. COHEN said LSD has very valuable uses in medical research if it is given to the right person under the right circumstances. Unfortunately the people who have been taking LSD are the very people who should not take it. These people generally feel insecure and inadequate and are attracted to LSD as a solution to their problems.

ing chosen as the site for next year's convention. Kurt Schork, student body president at Jamestown, was chosen coordinator for the event.

Highlights of the three-day convention were the Friday and Saturday sessions on subjects ranging from student rights and student-faculty communication to big-name entertainment.

STUDENT RIGHTS were the most recurrent topic in the discussion, as the students compared policies from the various schools present. For example, Valley City College disclosed that all women students must be in the dormitory by 11 p.m. on week nights, and that the hot water is turned off at 11:30 p.m. "so no one will take showers, disturbing the other students."

The Valley City representatives also stated that dormitory head residents "have the right to listen in over the intercom system to students in the privacy of their own rooms."

All of the colleges present brought out similar examples of situations on their campuses which are infringements of their rights. Censorship of college newspapers and room searches were also discussed. It was decided that each of the college student governments present should establish constant contact with representatives of the American Civil Liberties Union in their own locality.

STUDENT APATHY, always a major topic of discussion at college conventions, was much discussed, as were student-faculty relations, with emphasis on attendance requirements at the different colleges.

Dr. Curtis Siemers, Winona State's vice president in charge of Student Affairs, was the principle speaker at Friday evening's banquet. He spoke on the student's role in the university today.

Ray Gunderson and Joan Pretzel of WSC were co-chairmen of the convention.

As a result many complications set in, two of which are the panic stage in which little things "become enormously important" and the grandiose stage under which a person has tremendous feelings of power and the critical functions of the ego are wiped out. In such a stage when radical ideas enter a person's mind, there are no counterbalancing elements. The most common grandiose notion is that of being able to fly.

ANOTHER complication is the flashback which may occur weeks or even months after the last LSD trip. There are no traces of LSD left; this is a channeling phenomena in which a person slips into either a blissful or overwhelmingly horrifying state.

OTHER EFFECTS of LSD trips are prolonged reactions such as increased anxiety and an alteration of values, which, according to Dr. Cohen, is the "saddest consequence of LSD." Dr. Cohen explained that LSD does not change one's character, but it alters values to an extent that a person who has taken LSD may turn towards the psychedelic way of life and surround himself with like people.

THE EFFECT of LSD on the chromosome structure of the body is currently being researched. It is known that children, born to mothers who have chromosomal breakdown due to LSD, may have similar changes. However it is not known what diseases are associated with LSD or what effect it may have on congenital changes.

In tracing a brief history of drugs, Dr. Cohen stated that we must realize that the present drug culture existing in the U.S. is not the first drug society. Throughout history almost every culture has had its mind changing agents, such as opium in China and the beetlenut in Asia. In the U.S. the first major use of drugs occurred in the post-civil

We Admit It

WE ADMIT IT.

It's happening here.

Right here in Winona. Sometimes before your very eyes. But you don't know it. Now you do — because we admit it. Maybe other people will. Maybe ten, maybe twenty — maybe even more. Because it happens here.

Maybe once a week, maybe twice a week — maybe even more. It does happen here.

When people admit it, the game is all over. And IT is all over. But it's just beginning here. Look for the admit-in. Or have your own.

Because of your innocence, we have to admit it to you. You all should admit it to each other — but first admit it to yourself. It's really a change when you admit it. What else is there to say? The unspoken has been spoken.

WE ADMIT IT.

Student Senate

11 run for Sophomore offices

by Steven P. Johnson

Elections were held yesterday for sophomore class officers. The candidates were: Steve Holubar, Dennis Murray and Diane Rippel, president; Lee Bohan and Jan Edwards, vice president; Cheryl Bremseth and Nancy Olson, secretary; Cathy Cliff, Alice Koval, Carol Pretzel, and Charles Redwing, treasurer.

The Senate moved to advise the president and the State College Board to raise the Student Activity Fee.

Junior class officers will be elected next week. Students with 80-127 credits will be permitted to vote.

The pending questionnaire on women's hours was presented and tabled until next week, pending consultation with the Psychology department as to the effectiveness of the questions for statistical analysis. The Women's Dorm Council will also be informed as to the Senate's actions within the week. All students concerned with this issue are urged to attend next week's Senate meeting.

All senators present were in general agreement that last week's Tri-State Convention ran very smoothly, and some suggestions were made for further improvement of the Winona-dominated organization.

Helen Gorman, Homecoming Senator, announced that the Homecoming Committee has recommended dropping the bonfire next year, and suggestions are encouraged for some substitute. The Homecoming Committee meets every Thursday at 5:30 p.m. in conference rooms 1 and 2 in the Union.

The Senate will send three delegates to the National Student Association Convention in Kansas this August, it was announced.

Student cites discrepancies in Cuban talk

To The Editor:

I QUESTION the "social improvement" cited in the Winonan article (April 26) about Cuba ten years after the revolution. I know little about Cuba, and I have no first-hand knowledge about it, as does Mr. Jennings, but there seem to be several discrepancies.

When the article states that the number of people in school has gone from three out of ten (30%) ten years ago to one out of four (25%) today, I see deterioration, not improvement. Obviously, if the number of doctors in Cuba will "soon" (how soon?) surpass the number ten years ago, then there are no more, or maybe fewer, doctors in Cuba today. There may be either stagnation or deterioration (as compared to before the revolution), but not improvement.

IF CASTRO makes the major decisions and also (here I presume) carries the duties usually associated with a country's head of state, I cannot see how he has time to spend 360 days of each year out in the country.

Jennings points out that the militia is "voluntary", but that it is a must for university students. This implies that selective pressure is exerted on students for other than scholastic reasons. If you believe in academic freedom, then this seems to be a situation needing reform.

AFTER NOTING these specific weaknesses in Mr. Jennings' statements, I doubt the reliability of the rest of the article. Perhaps if I had heard Mr. Jennings in person, I would have gained a different impression. Judging solely by the article, I would guess that either Mr. Jennings is trying to gloss over Cuba's short-comings out of sympathy for the present government, or that he has accepted the Cuban government's statements at face value, and is passing them on to us as objective reporting. In either case, I cannot buy the merchandise presented.

Correction: The new hours for the Richards Hall bookstore were incorrect. Saturday hours of 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. are not effective until Fall quarter, '68.

P.S.: A personal message to R. L. Hansen: Unfortunately the time tunnel is only a fictional device. We could program you for 1850 and you would be the Beau Brummel of the time.

Correction: Janet Hegtvoldt Alfonso was inadvertently omitted from the 3.5-3.99 Winter quarter Honor Roll.

To the Editor, and to Mr.

R. L. Hansen:

UNFORTUNATELY, I did not see your article until last week's reprint in the Winonan. Unfortunately, too, I could not locate your name in the WSC student directory, for I much wanted to find out your home town. But I shall assume that you are from somewhere in Minnesota for your black movements.

Thomas suggested that the students get behind the current effort to get an Afro-American history course into the Winona State curriculum as one way of promoting a better understanding of the black man and his culture.

IN CONCLUDING the discussion Mr. Bremer stated that two things which merit consideration in achieving understanding between the races are to respect people for what they are as persons and to look beyond the color barrier in our relationships with people.

Student praises Vets' patriotism

To the Editor:

I would like to congratulate the Veterans Club of WSC for presenting an up-to-date 50 star flag to President DuFresne Wednesday, April 24. I am proud to know there is an organization on campus that shows enough concern and patriotism to do the school such a service.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

I WOULD LIKE to state that I am not a veteran of any wars, and most likely will never have the chance to claim that title. When I graduated from high school, I turned 18 at the same time, and after registering at the Selective Service, I was immediately classified 4F. I received this classification because I had polio. In the summer of 1967 I had tried to enlist and was turned down because of my medical history. Since then I have decided to continue my education and after graduation apply for O.C.S. to see if I have any chance of repeal.

I am a Junior now and can hardly be classified as a draft dodger. I live in Prentiss Hall and have the GREAT pleasure to have MR. FRANK A. SIEBENALER as my Resident Assistant. My reply to Mr. G. E. Banks' article in the April 26 edition, is that he seems to think he's the great hero of America and single handedly has guarded our shores, cities, oceans, and jungles.

MOST OF THE soldiers of today, no matter what branch of service, have very little to say, if anything at all, about their placement overseas. If Mr. Banks was lucky enough to serve in a jungle, or similar rough conditions, and has survived, my hearty congratulations. But, I'm sure he did not ask to be sent there, as I am sure Mr. Siebenaler did not ask to serve where he did, or at least have the deciding decision to make. Therefore, I believe it is not fair for Mr. Banks to attempt to criticize Mr. Siebenaler's right to be in the Veterans' Club. Also, I believe that Mr. Banks' accusative statements referring to Mr. Siebenaler as being the "Great White God" on campus" was in very poor taste and uncalled for. If there is a better or more respected MAN on campus, not for what he did, but for what he IS, I would like very much to meet this person.

As an ending to this letter I would like to state one more thing. Mr. Banks has stated in his article that what he thinks Mr. Siebenaler thinks and does not have the guts to say is: "I hate Negroes. I am all supreme, and the black, yellow or red man deserves to be where he is because my 'White' skin says that I am superior." He has also stated that Mr. Siebenaler is a "narrow-minded individual."

MY OPINION on these issues is that either Mr. Banks doesn't know Mr. Siebenaler personally, or Mr. Banks only read what he wanted to read out of Mr. Siebenaler's article in order to defame his character. I believe Mr. Siebenaler is a very broad-minded individual and does not feel or express any sense of superiority because he is "White", and to support this, I'm sure I could name 15 to 20 men who, at this very minute, would agree with me wholeheartedly. However, I do believe there are more than 15 or 20 men who would back me up.

Respectfully submitted,
Glen O. Peterson, Junior

To the Editor:

IT'S SCARY to look at ourselves. I mean really look at ourselves. When our masks are stripped away, and we stand in front of everyone as we really are — another human being.

But to be fully alive and not live a life of hypocrisy — we must take away our masks of deception.

We must take the risk of being exposed.

But yet we don't, we're afraid — me, you, and everyone.

WE ARE AFRAID of what we will see; we want to keep on pretending. We want to have others think of us as something we're really not. So we keep playing our games with each other.

We're afraid to express our feelings, so what do we do — we keep our emotions hemmed up inside of us. Like a tiger in a cage who wants to get out and live and live and be free once again—but can't.

BUT THERE'S the catch; we can get out. For we are the keepers and we have the key to get out of our cage, and to be free and to live once again. But then — who wants to take a risk? Do you?

Margot Johnson,
Sophomore

To the Editor:

OH, WOE is me! I have an uncanny feeling of sorrow for such a narrow-minded creature as R. L. Hansen who seemed to have had a bad dream. . .

Negro students mixing with White students in such pastimes as eating, walking or dating together—NO, heavens! R.L. cannot see such integration. What filth to sit next to a Negro, what sin of brotherhood could be more distasteful?

R.L., your answer to the conflict between the Black and White as being a class struggle underestimates your blindness. I suppose also, that it is too bad the Negro does not conform to society but destroys it—destroys it by trying to live as a human being where he is treated like an ass, destroys it by being clean (personal hygiene) when he can't buy soap because of a white store owner, destroys it by working in ungodly places because he is barred by whites to work where he desires and is responsible, destroys it by being himself?

ARE SLUMS built because the Negro is unclean, uneducated, and poor? Or could it possibly be that when a man has worked so much and lived with a people who think they are above him (your "caste" business), won't let him live where he wants although he is able to afford it—and, thus, this Negro is forced to live in an undesirable and undeserving environment. A man's spirit breaks, his soul falls and he cannot care too much about his environment if he did not want to be there in the first place.

R. L. Hansen, I grieve for you, you are NAKED!

Blakeley, Carlson plan participation in Africa program

DR. BRIAN Blakeley, associate professor of geography, and Roger Carlson, assistant professor of geography, will be Winona State's participants in a two-summer program in Africa studies.

The program, directed by the UCLA African Studies Center, is offered in cooperation with the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education. WSC is one of 15 institutions in the United States chosen for the program.

The participants will spend this summer at the UCLA Center and the summer of 1969 in Nairobi and West Africa.

Effects of LSD differ

war days. An estimated 4% of the population used opium as commonly found in patent medicines.

LSD WAS discovered 25 years ago in Switzerland. It was first used for research, but in 1962 the LSD story changed when it got into the hands of the wrong people. Today it is the strongest mind altering agent by weight; it is active in amounts not seen by the naked eye.

Presently, Dr. Cohen says "more are turning off than are turning on." He sees a trend away from LSD in the major centers of its use. "People are deciding LSD is not the best way of life." Other trends are towards drugs such as Speed (methamphetamine) and non-chemical meditation techniques.

To The Editor,

IT IS MY understanding that Miss Carmen Sens, 22, Resident Director of the high rise dormitory has imposed upon Miss Marny Sexton, 21, a six day "Campus" in which she must remain in her dorm room from 7:00 p.m. until 7:00 a.m. without phone calls or visits during that period, and is allowed two fifteen minute breaks per evening to get out of her room. This was imposed due to Miss Sexton's late return to the dormitory.

My displeasure is not with Miss Sens, but with an administration, faculty and student body that denies, or allows to be denied, the right of the adult citizen to personal liberty, or at least due process.

When I was a student at the University of Minnesota three years ago, the girls 21 and over didn't have hours. Here at Mankato State College all sophomores and higher will not have hours starting in the fall.

AS THINGS stand now, a girl accused of being out after hours has the right to a Judiciary Board hearing, directed and controlled by her peers. Miss Sexton was not even informed of her right to appeal to the administration.

It seems to me that the administration and students at Winona State have not been keeping up with the times, let alone constitutional rights. Where has Winona been for the last few years?

Individual rights have been submerged, it seems, and an archaic law is being unfairly imposed. Dictatorial and unlawful detention is being allowed to be imposed without due process of law.

I HOPE THAT the administration and the students will make themselves aware of this unjust condition and pursue a solution to it. Reforms concerning hours should be considered and a posiniques.

In conclusion Cohen stated that current uses of LSD have impeded research, but we must remember that it has "something to teach us if it is used correctly."

IN A QUESTION and answer period following his lecture, Dr. Cohen stated that he has taken LSD — 15 years ago for the purpose of research. In medicine, LSD may be used to help patients dying of cancer to accept their death and in surgery it may be used to draw the mind away from pain.

There is no conclusive evidence regarding the combination of LSD and alcohol. Cohen's patients who have taken LSD treatments are advised not to drink as a matter of policy. He also stated he knows no studies showing conclusive evidence for or against the use of marijuana.

tive and just system of discipline put into effect immediately.

I thought Mankato was behind the times.

Sincerely,
Luke Way

To the Editor:

I FEEL that I must comment on several things mentioned by Mr. Hansen in his recent letter to the editor which appeared in the Winonan.

Mr. Hansen mentioned several things about black-white dating on the WSC campus. I would like to suggest that perhaps a black person and a white person date each other because they like each other. Mr. Hansen suggests that a black dates a white for the purpose of gaining some sort of equality. I would like to point out that both of his references to this topic refer to a black male dating a white female. I wonder why. I know that some people regard that to be more offensive than seeing a white male dating a black female.

My situation is the latter one. Am I to feel that I have afforded someone the opportunity of attaining equality status by dating me? Nonsense. I am dating a certain young lady, not in spite of her color, and not because of it. I just happen to like her; it's that simple.

I DON'T feel that blacks date whites to achieve equality status, but for a moment let us assume that they do. So what? People date each other for a variety of reasons. These reasons are of no concern to anyone except the couple that are dating each other. The fact that Mr. Hansen calls attention to any black-white dating that might exist on the WSC campus indicates to me that Mr. Hansen himself represents one of those barriers that he mentioned in his letter.

MR. HANSEN also stated that the black-white conflict in America is a class struggle rather than a racial one. If this is so, why is the typical white person usually offended by inter-racial dating or marriage? In my opinion, the basis of the problem is this: White people generally feel that black people are inferior, and consequently feel that black people should occupy an inferior position in our society. To me, this attitude is a racial one.

By the way, the girl I am dating is neat and clean; she doesn't throw trash "in hallways and stairways, into the yards and on to the streets." In fact, she twists my ear everytime I throw a cigarette butt out the car window, or throw trash in my hallway.

Judson initiates science society at Winona State

DR. LYMAN JUDSON represented Winona State at a meeting of Sigma Xi, the national honorary science society, at Wisconsin State University in La Crosse recently.

Dr. Judson met with the society members for the purpose of founding a Sigma Xi chapter open to qualified faculty and students of Winona State, St. Mary's College, the College of St. Teresa, Viterbo College and Wisconsin State University.

Election is based on excellence in scholarship, original research and/or publication in professional journals and is the highest honor available to individuals in the field of science.

DR. JUDSON, who was elected to Sigma Xi at the University of Wisconsin on the basis of his original research on the physio-electrochemical concomitants of nerve conduction and for his Voice Science textbook and contributions of scientific journal articles, requests that interested faculty members notify him.

The charter banquet for the new group is tentatively scheduled for late May.

GOLFERS STILL UNDEFEATED
THE GOLFERS are still undefeated in this year's play. Monday they defeated the Mankato State Indians 10-8 in conference action.

Terry Nelson led the field with a 74, while John Walski, Tim Rath and Rog Fischbach turned in 78's. Dave Henke (83) and Stan Hackenmiller (88) also shot fine golf.

COACH MOLINARI said: "The team has been shooting real good golf this year; they have not been beaten this year; they are a fine group of young men."

The next meet is a triangular with La Crosse and Luther at La Crosse May 14 — starting at 12 p.m.

WARRIORS TAKE TWO FROM UPPER IOWA, 6-1 AND 11-9

THE WARRIOR batsmen had a heyday Tuesday in a double header with Upper Iowa. They collected three home runs in one game plus several triples and doubles.

Bob Goldstrand had a fine day. He hit 4 out of 5 times at the plate, including one of the home runs in the big third inning of the second game.

Greg Stezenski went the distance on the mound in the first game; Rick Smith got the win.

MIKE DEWYRE started the scoring for Winona as he hit the first pitch of the first inning over the left field fence, 325 feet away.

The second inning proved to be quite exciting as Iowa struck back with back-to-back doubles and a walk to load up the bases. It looked bad for WSC but then a break came — Bill Harlos (catcher) and Mike Dewyre (3B) caught a man off guard on third to give Iowa two outs. Then Rick Smith struck the next batter out to end the rally.

The third and fourth innings were the run innings for the Warriors. They picked up nine runs on seven hits and one wild pitch. In the third Dewyre started it off with a two bagger, then Hank Zacharias bounced the ball for a single. Next Chuck Goerish added a double and then came the smash by Goldstrand to clear the bases.

IN THE FOURTH, Gene Schultz led off with a double; Dewyre bounced the ball off the top of the center field fence for another double. Zacharias stepped to the plate and drove in Dewyre. The bases were then cleared once more — this time by Chuck Goerish as he drove the ball over the right field fence.

The Warriors are in St. Cloud

this weekend with one game today and two Saturday. Next weekend the Warriors finish their season at home with Mankato in a three game stand.

WSC TENNIS TEAM LOSES 6-3 TO U. OF M. B SQUAD

THE WARRIORS lost their fourth match of the year to a tough U. of M. B squad Friday. The only two Warriors to win their singles matches were Rich Pett, who defeated Mike Lamber-ton 6-1, 6-4; and Rog Hartwich who downed Dick Johnson 6-4, 8-6.

The doubles team of Von-Bargen and Stoffel were the only Warriors to win. They defeated the team of Hiller and Schwartz 6-4, 1-6 and 6-4.

The next meet for the Netters is Saturday, May 11 as they meet Loras College, there.
